

Pyradym

Healing with Sound, Light, Physioacoustics, Reiki, Crystal Healing & Bio-Geometry

The Pyradym Instrument generates vibration and sound healing energy. It has a crystal capstone which emits light and crystal energy in addition to Reiki symbols. There are seven settings that customize the healing to each client, or for each chakra. They vary from soft (calming) to hard (clearing) or increasing the intensity of the sound and vibration, depending on the client's purpose for the session.

What is Physioacoustics? Since ancient times, low frequency sound has been used in various forms to cause physiologic and psychological effects. From the chant of Tibetan monks, to Gregorian chant, to Celtic warrior's attack cry, to the music/drums of African tribes, Native American and Australian aborigines drumming, low frequency sound has been used to calm, to excite, to relieve anxiety, to motivate warriors, and to induce relaxation. Physioacoustics is a scientific method of applying low frequency stimulation to the human body in such a way as to obtain desired emotional or physical effects. Physioacoustics may be thought of as the science which takes the active ingredients out of music, concentrates them, and infuses them in pure form to motivate or heal.

What does it do? New non-invasive break-through technologies are emerging as the "new" science of Physioacoustics revolutionizes the healing arts. Pyradym™ is a technological innovation and the first product that optimally unifies the healing modalities of Physioacoustics, Color Therapy, Crystal Healing, Sound Healing and Bio-geometry into one synergistic, powerful mode of expression.

Pyradym™ is excellent as a stand-alone healing device or can be incorporated as a complimentary modality of healing to others now practiced:

- For sufferers of chronic pain, Pyradym is invaluable as it relieves discomfort quickly without the "hung over" feeling associated with most drugs.
- By resonating and stimulating the human endocrine and lymphatic systems, greater resistance to viral infection may be achieved, thus stimulating the human immune system.
- As one tunes the physical body in this way, improved alignment with the spiritual body occurs. This leads ultimately to a higher and more profound connection to Source.

Pyradym™ is a self-contained electrically powered apparatus designed to stimulate and facilitate the human body's innate self-healing mechanisms. It consists of 4 basic functional systems:

- A sound frequency generating system,
- A physioacoustic vibration system,
- A corresponding light therapy system, and
- A crystal energy radiating system.

FDA claim for physioacoustics transducer – The FDA has listed the Physioacoustic component of Pyradym as a Class One Medical Device and allows the claims of relief of pain, increase of blood circulation and relaxation.

How does it work? The Human Energy Field is a complex energetic, multidimensional field that surrounds, penetrates, and IS the human body. Energetic vortexes called Chakras nourish every organ and cell in our bodies. These Chakras, in turn, collect energy from the morphogenetic field that is all around us. When blocks accumulate in the energy field, a disruption in the flow of energy occurs. It is these blocks that disrupt the harmony in the field and eventually are the cause of disease, as well as emotional and mental disorders in the physical body. Applying the principles of sympathetic resonance, imparting specific tones to these Chakra regions can help to clear the blocks, thereby restructuring the Chakras and promoting healing. It can also induce new levels of awareness.

Most research in Low Frequency Sound has been carried out in Scandinavia, England, and other parts of Europe. Since 1991 research studies in Physioacoustics have been carried out at Duke University, the National Institutes of Health Center for Alternative Medicine, University of Virginia, the University of North Carolina (Asheville), Michigan State University (Kalamazoo Campus), etc. Controlled studies have demonstrated statistically highly significant decreases in anxiety, tension, muscle spasticity, arousal states, and dramatic increases in relaxation and a sense of well-being. Psychological testing shows that people who receive physioacoustic treatments feel better about themselves.

The sensation of a physioacoustic treatment, analogous to that of being vibrated, is very different from that of mechanical vibration. It is perceived as much more pleasant. Mechanical vibration systems can cause side effects such as nausea, motion sickness, loss of hand eye coordination, and nystagmus, (a rapid involuntary oscillation of the eyeballs due to dizziness). Physioacoustics is a departure in the American medical tradition where the most commonly used nostrums rely on drugs. All drugs have side effects. Physioacoustics can ameliorate pain without clouding the mind. How many Americans drink or take drugs to escape anxiety or "get to sleep"? "Physio" can relieve anxiety or induce sleep with no drug toxicity and no "hangover".

The mechanism of action of Physioacoustics is based on measurements of intrinsic oscillation frequencies of the human nervous system and resonance characteristics of various muscle groups, therefore "acclimation" does not exist. Thousands of clinical research hours have taught us to use these sounds to relax, to stimulate, to relieve pain.

The International Standards Organization (ISO) has determined levels of vibration and sound that are safe for human exposure. An independent laboratory tested the newest physioacoustic systems set at maximum amplitude and they were found to be safe within ISO Standards for human exposure even if run twenty-four hours a day.

To summarize, "PhysioAcoustics" is:

- an enjoyable experience
- relaxing
- feels good
- relieves anxiety and pain
- decreases spasticity
- increases circulation.

Physioacoustics does all this without side effects common to drugs, has FDA approval as a Class One dical technology, and is safe within all ISO standards.

Heal with Energy PYRADYM Session Testimonials: (Dec 2005 – Feb 2006)

"I found the experience was kind of like being in a different world for a while, like a world of sound and vibration and I got wonderfully immersed in it. It also felt like a great workout." Cathy Cole, Fort Collins, CO

"Delightful experience! Felt a great "inner" massage for my healing vertebrae (1st-2nd chakra) and a refined energizing of my upper chakras. It helped me to shift from thinking-brain dominance to a more flowing place". Robert Evans, Fort Collins, CO

"We have a divine matrix in correlation to all of life in the many universes. The Pyradym assists us in not only vibrating on all the levels of the matrix and also expressing the information in the physical uniquely to our own being." Nancy Glen, Fort Collins, CO

"This was absolutely wonderful. The vibrations emanating from the Pyradym machine went deep into my body causing an open feeling at my third eye. I've been working with correcting my vision naturally (Bates method) and I felt a moving in my head behind my eyes. A very positive in clearing my issues I have surrounding sight and vision. Thank you." Sara Havelange, Fort Collins, CO

"Feel very relaxed and feel like going to sleep...an energized tiredness which is a "good" kind of tired. The body sensation experiences were the primary internal focus for me and the relative lack of mental activity was surprising. I experienced what I called a moderately high body register (twitching and calling out) which I interpreted as reactions to energy as energy blockages showed themselves as the tones ran up against them. These registers are not painful or scary....Not all of the tones brought these reactions... By the end of the session I was very relaxed, energized and mentally quiet. I did feel a lot of energy in my 2nd and 3rd chakra regions during the session and a particular relaxing in the 3rd chakra which is where I have noticeable energy tension. I would continue using this technology. Using the Pyradym CD, I noticed that the low pitch vibrations felt powerful as a whole body experience, something I wasn't expecting with headphones. The second track felt unpleasant and unnecessarily strong for me (as noted on the CD cover)." Jeff Hoffman, Fort Collins, CO.

"I experienced peaceful sensations and floating or traveling out of time/space. I was out of body, relaxing as in NOT thinking." Autumn Kitaev, Fort Collins, CO

"I loved my experience with the Pyradym. It was quite intense. I was surprised at how quickly my extremities "fell away". Very easy to get caught up in the sounds and not let my thoughts take over. I did not like all of the tones, did feel "tingly" and sensations in many areas of my body." Sarah Lindblad, Masonville, CO

"My session with the Pyradym machine was incredible! I instantly felt transported out of my body to another place – all the while being connected deeper with my energetic body and my spirit guides and "Source". It was actually difficult to think, and for an analytical person, that's great! It was an intensely relaxing experience and I thought it was amazing to be able to feel each energy center that the Pyradym machine was focused on. I know that a deep level healing occurred during this session as I've experienced other forms of energetic healing. Since my session, I still feel the sensations from the experience (it's been almost 2 weeks). I've also felt more energetically "clear or clean" and I've been more grounded since the session, even while going through a very busy time. I highly recommend the Pyradym machine to anyone wishing to clear and align their body physically, emotionally and spiritually. This is a wonderful instrument of pure light and love!" Michelle Moore, Fort Collins, CO

"There is a singing bowl that has water in it and when you rub the edge of the bowl it begins to emit a sound and the sound makes the water roil, as if it were boiling. That is how my chest and neck felt for about 15 hours after the Pyradym treatment. It was slightly uncomfortable because of the unusualness of the sensation. The following day, I felt slightly sore, as if I'd climbed a mountain and breathed hard, but good. I know something definitely went on [at] a cellular level and it feels as if it is still going on, after 24 hours. After my Network entrainment, I experienced a big release of emotions. It felt like the Pyradym machine had loosened the stuck energy. Third day, the energy/vibration can still be felt in my chest. My blood pressure is normal in the morning for the first time in a week of high readings. The Pyradym sound seems to have loosened some "stuck energy" in my spine in a place that has been chronically tight since I was in a car wreck ten years ago. The following day, I went to my chiropractor and that triggered the release of emotions associated with this stuck area of the spine. This sound tool is powerful. (It reached into my spine and felt like an effervescent energy massage.) Thank you." Barbara Pals, Fort Collins, CO.

"Breathing more deeply. Not feeling as worried. Able to relax more. Feel more centered. Less mental concerns (money, job, etc.) than before the session. Able to get into a meditative state for the first time in 6 weeks." Viveka von Rosen, Fort Collins, Co

"I found the session to be very relaxing and yet stimulating. The energy I felt in my body left me feeling energized. Deeply relaxing! The SI joint stiffness/pain is gone in the moment [Four days later it was still gone.] So is the pain in my left thigh. As for the balance in my life, I feel more tranquil than I have in a while which leads me to believe the balance is here. Connection to Source appears stronger. Jesus was here with me." Deb Davis, Fort Collins, CO

"I feel lighter – like a weight has been lifted, clearer, happier. I have more energy and less congestion." Kate Solisti, Boulder, CO

"I felt relaxed yet focused. Confident that I will be/AM healthy and strong. I felt supported in my goals [for healing in the session]." Donna Dial, Fort Collins, CO

"The use of the Pyradym in a healing session was an interesting and helpful experience. I could feel the vibrations go through my body, into every cell, and it felt as if some old dust (old memories) were shaken loose and sifted out – the image that kept coming to my mind was that of separating chafe from the grain. The lower frequencies brought back memories of early childhood abuse and revealed new aspects, all of this in a detached and painless way – it felt more like observing these memories from a mental perspective. When I looked into the mirror right after this session, I noticed that the color of my blue eyes was more intense than earlier in the day, and that my eyes sparkled much more. The day after the Pyradym session I noticed that when I was thinking of people/incidents where I had still been harboring some resentments, I could now think of them without any resentments left; or I could simply decide not to hang on to these resentments anymore, and they just disappeared and I was left with completely neutral feelings. I also noticed a change in sexual intimacy, the experiences were more intense and vivid – the image that came to my mind was that of a film of gray having been removed from my sexual organs and allowing me now to experience intercourse "in color". [Second session: After emotional clearing of first session and accompanying body twitching, the second session was relaxing and calming, with a sense of the energy bodies being in balance.] A (requested Anonymity), Fort Collins, CO

"Immediately after the session, I felt relaxed and at ease, kind of like after a good massage. The next few days, my detox [rash on skin of arms and shoulders from detoxing chemicals] seemed better and my wife noticed that I seemed more relaxed and happy. I look forward to hearing more about the Pyradym Instrument and experiencing it again. I also liked the way that Margie gave me feedback on my energy fields and found this to be interesting and enlightening." Les Moore, Sr. Research Associate, Fort Collins, CO.

"This was quite an intriguing healing session. As a martial artist, I felt every kick and punch I took resurface and come out. This treatment will bring up emotions and things held in [the body], but will leave you feeling very good. I would highly recommend Margie as a healer." Ted Ray, Neuromuscular Massage Therapist, Fort Collins, CO.

"My heart seems to be more open and clear. It feels better. Right now, after the session, I felt my [2nd and 3rd] chakra warm up and then it felt as I was swallowing up from these two chakras. It felt like moving in it's own way, but good. Off to sleep." Paul Barney EI, Energy Healing and Massage, Aurora, CO

"...in terms of relaxation I feel that the session left me with a deep sense of calm that probably lasted into the weekend following the treatment. I found my disposition to [be] much lighter and felt quite open." Dr. Michael Johnston, acupuncturist, Fort Collins, CO.
